

INFORMATION TO STOCKMEN

Who Graze Their Stock on the Forest Reserves.

The government requires that all persons who wish to graze their stock (meaning cattle and horses) on the forest reserves, should make application for grazing permits in sufficient time so that there will be no lapse of the old permit issued. All grazing permits issued expire either December 31, next, or before that time.

Grazing permits are issued for the calendar year only, that is, from January 1, 1902, to December 31, 1902, and may include sufficient lands within the reserves to graze the number of cattle and horses actually owned by settlers, to graze upon range usually occupied by them.

In making applications all blanks should be filled out properly, giving the number of cattle and horses separately and see that applications are properly dated, signed and witnessed.

If permits are not issued for all the time stock graze on the reserves, the rules of the reserves make it necessary to bring suits for trespass against the owners. It is to the best interests of the stockmen to see that applications are made out and that they are in possession of permits for all the time they desire to graze their stock on the reserves.

Blank applications and other information concerning same may be had by addressing Forest Supervisor F. S. Breen, Flagstaff, Arizona.

LOCAL

Martin Buggeln, of the Bright Angel hotel, was a Williams visitor yesterday.

Ranney & Harrell are now comfortably located in their new building, the task of moving having been accomplished last Saturday.

Mr. A. B. Bruner wishes to announce that he has received his new line of silverware and Christmas goods, which were delayed in transit.

Mr. A. Tetzlaff was a visitor in Prescott this week as a witness in the Nalaskowski homestead case. The government not having its witnesses ready the case was postponed till January 20.

The Williams Drug Co. will move into their new quarters in the bank building today. Twitty & Parker commenced moving at 1 o'clock this morning and are today putting their goods in place.

MARRIED—Wednesday, December 18, 1901, Mr. James Bradshaw and Mrs. E. N. Gray, of this city. The ceremony was performed at Flagstaff, Judge N. G. Layton officiating. Both parties are well known here and their host of friends wish them much happiness.

Mr. S. A. Pleasants will leave for the south the first of next week. He expects to go overland and look over the condition of business in each city encountered on the route with the expectation of locating in the one which suits him best. Mrs. Pleasants will remain in Williams for the present, joining her husband when he finds a location. They will be absent through the cold weather.

The I. O. O. F. lodge of this city is in a flourishing condition, as is shown by the extensive improvements now under way by them on their property. The two-story building on Third street, owned by the order, is to have an addition built at the rear equal in size to the present structure, thus giving them a building with a depth of sixty-four feet. This will meet all requirements of the secret societies who now use the hall as a meeting place.

Were you at the dance last night? No? Well! You missed the best number on the program this season. The Silvernail hall last night was filled with a jolly crowd of dancers, and though the affair was spoken of only two days ago, from the way everyone enjoyed himself one would have imagined preparations had been making for many a day. The music furnished by Professors Miner, violinist; Green, flageoletist, and Howard, pianist, was all and even more than could have been asked for. Their waltzes and and two-steps were of the kind which make one dance whether he will or no, and the committee was exceedingly fortunate in securing their services for the occasion.

A CHILD'S WISH.

I love Merry Christmas and Happy New Year,
And dear Santa Claus, and tonight he'll be here
With his reindeer and sled fast across snow
and ice,
With all kinds of presents and everything nice.

For the last, long, long time, I've been good as can be,
And I hope dear old Santa Clause won't forget
me,
But fill up my stocking, the one that is red;
In plain sight, he can't miss it, at the foot of my bed.

Now, I would like a doll that can say ma and pa,
All fixed up in dresses, as grown folks are;
And a set of nice dishes painted pretty and blue,
With a real stove to cook on; a doll buggy, too!
And, now, Santa Claus, if you'll bring them to
me,
I'll be good the whole year. You can watch me
and see!
And you won't have to hunt me, I'll be sleeping right here.
So, good night, Merry Christmas and a Happy
New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Swanthouse, who have lived in Seligman ever since the town was started, have moved to Needles where their home will be in the future. The reason thereof as has been stated before, Mr. Swanthouse's promotion to passenger conductor. They will be very much missed, indeed, and Needles is to be congratulated on acquiring them as permanent residents.

Mr. Edward Boland, who went east a month ago and while there entered the bonds of matrimony, returned last Tuesday with his bride and is now ensconced in a nice little cottage where he will be at home to his many friends. May his voyage on the matrimonial sea be free from the storms of discontent and sorrow and may it end in a haven of ripe old age and happiness.

J. J. BYRNE, G. P. A., N. J. HUDSON, Agt.,
Los Angeles, Cal. Williams, Ariz.

Quite a change in the temperature again. The days are as much like summer as they can be, though the nights are pretty cool, and in consequence of the sudden change in the twenty-four hours, a large number have contracted very severe colds.

Mr. F. Suck, who has been working for Mr. McBride, has severed his connection with that gentleman and will return to Los Angeles where he will visit at home during the holidays, after which he will go back to railroading.

Mr. H. J. Hunter, late with Kholer & Chase, of San Francisco, has accepted a position with Mr. McBride as bookkeeper. Like all new comers, he is wonderfully impressed with Arizona's delightful climate.

Mr. Harry Dearing, an old-time Seligmanite, and lately operator at Ash Fork, is on the road again running on the Albuquerque division. Like the traditional bad penny, he will turn up occasionally.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lacey arrived the forepart of the week and will reside here in the future. Mr. Lacey is employed on the rip track where he will take charge of the road work.

Mr. W. Rose, the sheep raiser, has purchased the residence of Mr. Mr. Geo. Swanthouse. They have a nice home and it is one of the most cozy houses in Seligman.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. O'Rourke are the latest to take up their residence in Seligman. Mr. O'Rourke is employed in the yard here as switchman.
